

CESL PhD Workshop

RECENT DEVELOPMENTS IN CHINESE LAW

Date: Friday, 24 May 2019

Venue: Warburg-Haus, Heilwigstraße 116, 20249 Hamburg, Germany

9.00 Welcome

Prof. Hinrich Julius, Coordinator, China-EU School of Law (CESL), Universität Hamburg

9.15 Session 1: Law & Technology

Hic sunt dracones? Mapping the legal framework assisting China's innovation policy: Standardization and IPRs, Piergiuseppe Pusceddu, Tilburg University

Tort liability of E-commerce platforms, Zhu Yaning, Jilin University Law School, visiting PhD at the Max-Planck Institute for Comparative and International Private Law, Hamburg

Anticipatory lawmaking in international relations: Variation in the regulation of horizon technologies, Justin K. Canfil, Columbia University

The establishment of a so-called "ownership of personal data", Vincent Winkler, University of Freiburg

Questions & Answers

11.30 Session 2: Sustainable Development und Public Procurement

The implementation paths and approaches of Chinese sustainable public procurement - comparison to EU SPP legal regime, Zhao Shuangshuang, University of Turin

Policing public-private partnerships in infrastructure and public utilities in China and the EU: a comparative analysis, Si Tongle, Maastricht University

Questions & Answers

Group photo

12.30 - 13.30 Lunch break

13.30 Session 3: Law in a Time of Changing World Trade

Foreign takeover rules in China and the Netherlands: Converging or diverging, Du Du, Erasmus University Rotterdam

Will the fourth amendment of Chinese trademark law introduce the international exhaustion principle with exceptions? - An analysis of 143 Chinese court decisions, Feng Cong, KU Leuven

Questions & Answers

14.30 Tea break

14.45 Continuation Session 3

Comparative analysis of conflict of laws relating to cross-border liability insurance between EU and China, Yi Weng, University of Manchester

Chinese asylum seekers in the UK: detention, deportation and exploitation, Siyu Luo, University of Manchester

Questions & Answers

15.45 Session 4: Law Reforms for China's Future

Is it necessary to amend the arbitration law of China: a focus on the arbitral interim measures, Zhang Junmin, Maastricht University

China - recognition and enforcement of foreign court judgements in the belt and road era, Asen Velinov, Shanghai Jiaotong University

Questions & Answers

16.45 Closing remarks

