

Workshop: Maritime Disputes in the South China Sea

University of Cologne; Chinese Legal Culture

November 5th 2016:

First Session (10:00-13:00)

WIM MULLER

(Maastricht University)

China's Conduct in the South China Sea as seen from its General Attitude and Practice in International Law

KONG LINGJIE

(Wuhan University; China Institute of Boundary and Ocean Studies)

The Status of Low-tide Elevations under the Law of Territory and the Law of the Sea

IAIN SCOBIE

(Manchester University)

When is an Island a Rock? The PCA's Interpretation of UNCLOS 121(3)

Light Lunch (13:00-14:00)

Second Session (14:00-17:00)

SUZETTE SUAREZ

(Hamburg University, Acting Professor for Law of the Sea; Center for International Ocean Law)

The Role of International Courts and the further Development of International Environmental Law: Reflections on the Award in the Philippine-China Arbitration Case under Annex VII UNCLOS

YOURI VAN LOGCHEM

(Swansea University; Institute of International Shipping and Trade Law)

The Rights and Obligations of States in Maritime Areas of Overlap: the South China Sea

SONG KE

(Leiden University; Grotius Center for International Studies)

On the jurisdiction of arbitral tribunals under Annex VII of the UNCLOS over 'mixed dispute' - Legal analysis and its implications for South China Sea disputes